This course focuses on the contemporary Indigenous-settler actions in the Northern part of the Salish Sea. It will particularly emphasize the areas around qathet (Powell River), Straight of Georgia, Comox, Courtenay, and the islands in and between Vancouver Island and the Mainland.

Students will be introduced to a variety of governmental, non-governmental activities that are engaged in reconcili-action within the environmental and social change movement, and develop their own ideas, approaches and skills for facilitating change.

An optional field trip to qathet and Vancouver Island will occur during a long weekend.
